	John was born at Horsmonden in 1684, the third son of Thomas Hickmott and Mary Masters. Ann was born at Horsmonden in around 1697. After their marriage John and Ann lived at Horsmonden where their first three children – Susan (1714), John (1716) and Thomas (1718) were born. Following his father's death in 1711, John was given sole access to eighty acres of land known as the 'Kettles' as well as joint access to two pieces of land known as Castoins Field and the Great Tutchburys, all in the vicinity of Horsmonden and Lamberhurst. This may have facilitated John and Ann's move, in around 1722, from Horsmonden to Lamberhurst where their last eight children were baptised.
